Lesson Text—Genesis 22:1-14
Golden Text—"What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"
Primary Topic—Learning to be obedient.
Intermediate and Senior Topic—What does it mean to be obedient?
Young People and Adult Topic—Learning from Abraham.

1. Jacob's Birth (22:1-2).
In answer to Isaac's prayer, a need was given unto him. Before Jacob's birth God revealed to him the fact that he should have the place of pre-eminence. "The elder shall serve the younger." In this and reversed the ordinary law concerning the birth of the older son. The act of the boy holding of Isaac's heel as he was born, indicated Jacob's nature. The name Jacob means "supplanter."

2. Jacob's Flight (22:13-20).
He secured Isaac's birthright (22:29-34).
It was right for Jacob to be according to the birthright since it was according to God's plan as revealed to Rebekah, that he should be the one to receive the blessing. He took advantage of a brother's weakness to drive a shrewd bargain.

3. Jacob's Flight to Haran (22:21-28).
It was right for Jacob to be according to the birthright since it was according to God's plan as revealed to Rebekah, that he should be the one to receive the blessing. He took advantage of a brother's weakness to drive a shrewd bargain.

4. Jacob's Flight to Haran (22:21-28).

RETINA OF EYE IS SENSITIVE DETECTOR
Vision Requires Small Fraction of Energy.

Boston.—If man paid for optical energy at the rate charged for electricity for domestic use, his vision would cost him less than one trillioth of a trillioth of a cent per second. This energy used every second for seeing is the millionth part of the millionth of an erg. It takes about 1,000 ergs to lift a trillioth of an ounce half an inch.

Dr. Charles Sheard, director of physics and physiological research of the Mayo foundation at Rochester, Minn., made these revelations of minute quantities before the American optometrist association in convention here.

Like a Radio Receiver.
"The retina of the eye," he said, "is one of the most sensitive energy receivers and detectors known. It may be thought of as a radio receiver, although it does not respond to stimulation by ordinary waves, for it is a very selective set and is tuned to the light waves of the visible spectrum. In a single octave, lying between four and eight ten-thousandths of a meter, it receives the energy of the light waves, travel at a speed of 186,000 miles a second and are the shorter waves of the visible spectrum. It has been christened radio."

"This is saying that the liberation of a single electron in the retina by a ray of light, excites the sensation of vision in the brain. A millionth of a millionth of an erg per second is the energy or power necessary for vision."

"Since it requires the millionth part of the millionth of an erg to cause the emission of one electron at the retina, and thus set up the sensation of vision, then we know that if these thousand ergs to which we have referred could be used up at the rate of a millionth part of the millionth of an erg and if there were no dissipation of energy, it would take a million years to use up the energy of a million years of vision. Indeed, it seems almost incredible and inconceivable."

"That the millionth of a millionth of an erg is a mighty small amount of energy. No more startling, however, than the statement made by an American Nobel prize winner in physics, that he has found that the number of electrons contained in the quantity of electricity which courses through an ordinary incandescent lamp and for which one should pay, if such were possible, would equal the number of atoms in a cubic centimeter of air at a cent is so large that if all of the power of the sun were concentrated in a cubic centimeter of air, it would take a million years to use up the energy of a million years of vision. Indeed, it seems almost incredible and inconceivable."

Arkansees to Have World's Largest Fish Hatchery
London, Ark.—A fish hatchery, which upon completion in 1931, will be the largest in the world, is under construction here.

Monkeys Have Feast on Cigar, Then Get Sick
Minat, N. D.—Tobacco and monkeys don't mix, Mattie and Lindy, two monkeys owned by the Minot zoo, found out.

BOTH HANDS GONE, HE'S POSTMASTER
World War Veteran Waited Long for Job.

Bellevue, Calif.—The same determination displayed by Charles C. McConnel, thirty-four, veteran of the World War, in refusing to allow the loss of both of his hands to be an insurmountable handicap, is shown in his administration of the post office, that office is due for an available career.

McConnel has officially assumed his duties as postmaster here following the receipt of the latest mail. He is a native of Illinois, and was a member of the First Division, 101st Central Postal Directory, 101st Central Postal Directory, 101st Central Postal Directory.

McConnel was among the first to reach France and served there, eight months before he received the latest mail. He is a native of Illinois, and was a member of the First Division, 101st Central Postal Directory, 101st Central Postal Directory, 101st Central Postal Directory.

ONLY 8 VOTERS IN TOWN; AND 8 RADIOS
Village Holds Regular Meetings and Elections.

Windsor, N. H.—This small old New England village, situated at the foot of the White Mountains, prouly boasts that it has only eight voters, yet it has three elections, and continues the time-honored form of regular town meetings and elections.

Windsor, which covers a space of nearly fifteen square miles, has but seven occupied buildings and only one public building, the "town hall," a one-room, weather-beaten, shingled old edifice, which has been a landmark for nearly a century.

The residents, mostly people whose ancestors founded the town 200 years ago, are enthusiastic about town affairs, and the three elections, chosen from among the eight voters, carry the burden of several communal duties on their rugged shoulders.

Radio But No Telephone.
Prosperous and happy country people who make their living by farming, each and every family in the town is equipped with a radio; every family except one has an automobile, and every family except one has a dog.

The little village possesses 1,200 feet above sea level, and is situated on a hillside, and is surrounded by a forest of spruce, fir and hemlock. The village is situated on a hillside, and is surrounded by a forest of spruce, fir and hemlock.
